Section 501(c)(3) of the Code provides exemption for organizations that are organized and operated exclusively for educational, charitable, or other exempt purposes.

Section 1.501 (c)(3)-1 (a)(1) of the Income Tax Regulations states that in order for an organization to be exempt as an organization described in section 501 (c)(3), it must be both organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes specified in such section. If an organization falls to meet either the organizational or operational test, it is not exempt.

Section 1.501 (c)(3)-1(b)(1)(i) of the regulations provides that, in general, an aganization is organized exclusively for one or more exempt purposes only if its articles of organization limit the purposes of such organization to one or more exempt purposes, and do not expressly empower the organization to engage, otherwise than as an insubstantial part of its activities, in activities which in themselves are not in furtherance of one or more exempt purposes.

Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) of the regulations provides that an organization will be regarded as "operated exclusively" for one or more exempt purposes only if it engages primarily in activities which accomplish such purposes. An organization will not be so regarded if more an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose.

Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(2) of the regulations provides the term "charitable" is used in section 501(c)(3) of the Code in its generally accepted legal sense and includes relieving the poor and distressed or the underprivileged, combating community deterioration, lessening neighborhood tensions, and eliminating prejudice and discrimination.

Rev. Rul. 72-369, 1972-2 C.B. 245, provides that an organization formed to provide an agement and consulting services to unrelated exempt organizations does not qualify for exemption under section 501 (c)(3). This Rev. Rul. also states that providing managerial and consulting services on a regular basis for a fee is a trade or business ordinarily carried on for profit.

Rev. Rul. 74-587, 1974-2 C.B. 162, holds that a nonprofit organization formed to relieve poverty, eliminate prejudice, reduce neighborhood tensions, and combat community deterioration through a program of financial assistance designed to improve economic conditions and opportunities in high density urban areas inhabited primarily by low-income minority or other disadvantaged groups qualifies for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. The financial assistance provided was in the form of low-cost or long-term loans to, or purchase of temporary equity interests in, business enterprises otherwise unable to obtain hinds from conventional commercial sources due to their location in depressed urban communities or the proprietor's membership in a minority or other disadvantaged group.

Rev. Rul. 76-419, 1976-2 C.B. 146, describes an organization that purchases blighted land in an aconomically depressed area and converted it into an industrial park. Lots in the park are leased to industrial enterprises on terms sufficiently favorable to attract tenants to the area. Tenants are required by their leases with the organization to hire a significant number of presently unemployed persons in the area and to train them in needed skills. In order to an hieve the greatest community benefit, the organization, in selecting tenants for the industrial park, considered only those industrial enterprises whose hirting policies conform to current fair employment legislation. The ruling found that the organization is devoting its resources to uses at benefit the community in ways the law regards as charitable. The organization's activities eve not only to relieve poverty, but also to lessen neighborhood tensions caused by the lack of as and job opportunities in the area. Further, by creating an industrial park out of a blighted area, the organization is combating community deterioration. Accordingly, the organization was operated exclusively for charitable purposes and qualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3) on the Code.

Rev. Rul. 77-111, 1977-1 C.B. 144, in Situation 1, held that an olganization formed to increase business patronage in a deteriorated area by providing information on the area's shopping opportunities, local transportation, and accommodations is not operated exclusively for charitable purposes and does not qualify for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. The overall thrust is to promote business rather than to accomplish section 501(c)(3) objectives exclusively.

In Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C. v. United States, 316 U.S. 279 (1945), the Supreme Court Interpreted the requirement in section 501(c)(3) that an organization be operated exclusively by indicating that in order to fall within the claimed exemption, an organization must be devoted to exempt purposes exclusively. This plainly means that the presence of a single non-exempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will destroy the exemption regardless of the number and importance of truly exempt purposes. The Court held that a better business bureau was not exclusively educational or charitable because its activities were in part and at promoting the prosperity and standing of the business community even though there has also benefit to the public.

In B.S.W. Group, Inc. v. Commissioner, 70 T.C. No. 31 (1978), the Tax Court held that organization offering consulting and research services for a fee to various nonprofit organizations did not qualify for exemption under section 501 (c)(3) of the Code. The fees charged were set at or close to cost, but in no event would they be less than the amount needed to cover the cost of providing services. Several factors were listed by the court as militating against exemption. The organization's financing did not resemble that of the typical 501(c)(3) organization in that it did not solicit or receive voluntary contributions from the public. Its only source of income was fees for services. Other negative factors were the manner in which the organization's activities were conducted, the commercial hue of those activities, competition with a minercial firms providing similar services and the existence and amount of annual or occumulated profits.

You are not organized and operated exclusively for educational or charitable purposes within the meaning of section 1.501 (c)(3)-1(c)(2) of the regulations. You are organized and operated to manage the day to day operations of the Erie Street Market. These management activities include leasing space to vendors, providing maintenance services and utilities for the market facility, collecting rent, and providing advertising and promotional marketing for the market facility. Under the circumstances your management and operation of the Erie Street Market constitutes the conduct of a substantial nonexempt activity. Better Business Bureau v. U.S., supra

Your activities are similar to the management and marketing activities conducted by the expanization described in Rev. Rul. 77-111, supra. Like the organization described in Rev. Rul. 77-111 by conducting advertising and marketing as well as managing the market facility you are engaged in activities which promote business in the market place generally rather than accomplish exclusively charitable purposes described in section 501 (c)(3) of the Code.

Your advertising, marketing, and management of the day to day operations of the Erie Street Market are much the same as the management and consulting services provided by the organization described in Rev. Rul. 72-369, supra. The provision of these management services under the circumstances constitutes the conduct of a regular commercial business and a substantial nonexempt purpose. B.S.W. Group, Inc. v. Commissioner, supra.

Your activities are distinguishable from the activities conducted by the organizations described in Rev. Rul. 76-419 and Rev. Rul. 74-587. The operations of those organizations were conducted in an economically depressed area or directed primarily to low-income minority or other disadvantaged groups and were found to benefit the community in ways the law regards as charitable, such as relieving poverty, eliminating prejudice, reducing neighborhood tensions and combating community deterioration. In contrast, your operation is not located in an conomically depressed area nor is it directed primarily to any charitable groups.

Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) on the Code and you must file federal income tax returns:

Contributions to you are not deductible under section 170 of the Code.

You have the right to protest this ruling if you believe it is incorrect. To protest, you would submit a statement of your views to this office, with a full explanation of your reasoning its statement, signed by one of your officers, must be submitted within 30 days from the date this letter. You also have a right to a conference in this office after your statement is submitted. You must request the conference, if you want one, when you file your protest statement. If you are to be represented by someone who is not one of your officers, that person will need to file a proper power of attorney and otherwise qualify under our Conference and Fractices Requirements.

If you do not protest this ruling in a timely manner, it will be considered by the Internal evenue Service as a failure to exhaust available administrative remedies. Section 7428(b)(2) of the Code provides, in part, that a declaratory judgement or decree under this section shall not be issued in any proceeding unless the Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia determines that the organization involved has exhausted administrative remedies available to it within the Internal Revenue Service.

if we do not hear from you within 30 days, this ruling will become final and a copy will be lowered to the Ohio Tax Exempt and Government Entities (TE/GE) office. Thereafter, any existions about your federal income fax status should be directed to that office, either by calling 877-829-5500 (a toll free number) or sending correspondence to: Internal Revenue Service, TE/GE Customer Service, P.O. Box 2508, Cincinnati, OH 45201. The appropriate State Officials will be notified of this action in accordance with Code section 6104(c).

When sending additional letters to us with respect to this case, you will expedite their receipt by using the following address:
